Rethinking the Power of Maps Denis Wood 2010-04-16 A contemporary follow-up to the groundbreaking Power of Maps, this book takes a fresh look at what maps do, whose interests they serve, and how they can be used in surprising, creative, and radical ways. Denis Wood describes how cartography facilitated the rise of the modern state and how maps continue to embody and project the interests of their creators. He demystifies the hidden assumptions of mapmaking and explores the promises and limitations of diverse counter-mapping practices today. Thought-provoking illustrations include U.S. Geological Survey maps; electoral and transportation maps; and numerous examples of critical cartography, participatory GIS, and map art.

Luipaardrots Wilbur Smith 2018-07-12 Eindelijk deelt Wilbur Smith de buitengewone avonturen uit zijn bijzondere leven Aangevallen worden door leeuwen, oog in oog staan met dodelijke Caribische rifhaaien, verdwalen in de Afrikaanse jungle, het doorkruisen van riskante goudmijntunnels, vissen op marlijn, een bijna-doodervaring met een vliegtuig: Wilbur Smith maakte het in zijn roerige leven allemaal mee. Al deze ervaringen, zijn liefde voor schrijven en zijn liefde voor Afrika vertellen de verhalen van zijn leven die het ruwe materiaal vormden voor zijn boeken. Luipaardrots is een enorm openhartig, intiem en razend spannend verslag van een schrijver wiens leven net zo rijk is als zijn boeken zijn.

Donut Disturb Jessica Beck 2021-07-24 Praise for the Donut Shop Mysteries by Jessica Beck "A delight. Suzanne Hart is a lovable amateur sleuth who has a hilariously protective mother "and" great donut recipes! The Coen Brothers, Second Edition Ronald Bergan 2016-01-05 Brought completely up to date, this insightful biography remains "a must for any self-respecting Coen fan" (Screentrade). This fully updated edition of the first biography of the Coen Brothers includes their complete work so far, from Blood Simple to Inside Llewyn Davis (2013), with a reassessment of their remarkable career as a whole. Joel and Ethan Coen have pulled off the ultimate balancing act. Despite having their movies financed and distributed by major studios, they have managed to remain true independents, rejecting commercial clichés and never giving up on their own fiercely idiosyncratic vision. While doing so, they have established themselves among the world's leading filmmakers. From their startling debut, Blood Simple (1984), all of their movies reveal a distinctive stamp: a flamboyant visual style, richly conceived characters, crisp dialogue, and brilliant casting. They have revitalized old Hollywood genres such as noir, screwball, and the western, giving them a contemporary sensibility. In this biography, Ronald Bergan traces the brothers' Jewish roots, their beginnings as film geeks in suburban Minneapolis, their battle to get their first feature made and released, through their early features and the movies of their maturity. He gives blow-by-blow accounts of the making of each movie. New chapters cover all those released since O Brother, Where Art Thou? (2000), with which the first edition of this book ended.

Tell Me It Was Just a Dream Mary Gant Bell 2019-05-27 It's been said that everything can change in an instant. Valerie Walker can testify to this. One day her idyllic life was consumed with the mundane tasks involved with being a mother of three active children and the wife of the mayor. From one breath to the next, all of that changed. Now Valerie struggles to salvage the shattered pieces of her life. But where does she begin? Her mother's heart wants to comfort her husband and children. Unfortunately, their very survival must take precedence over luxury. If Valerie and her husband cannot keep everyone alive, there's no point in soothing their souls. Will they survive this tragedy, this shocking surprise? If they do, will they be able to rebuild the peaceful lifestyle they all enjoyed before the catastrophe uprooted them from their tranquility? Or will this disaster tear them apart?

Cry Wolf Wilbur Smith 2018-01-01 An action-packed thriller set during one of the most turbulent periods of global history, vividly brought to life by master of adventure, Wilbur Smith. 'A Master Storyteller' - Sunday Times 'Wilbur Smith is one of those benchmarks against whom others are compared' - The Times 'No one does adventure quite like Smith' - Daily Mirror A race to save a country . . . When American engineer Jake Barton teams up with English gentleman and hustler Gareth Swales to sell five battered old Bentleys in 1930s East Africa, neither of them could have imagined that they'd soon be attempting to smuggle the vehicles into Ethiopia in return for a huge reward. But Ethiopia is in the midst of war against Italy. To achieve their goal they'll have to manoeuvre past several extremely hostile European forces and an international blockade. Keeping them company as part of their mission is beautiful, strong-willed Vicky Camberwell, a journalist who has been sent with them to report on the brutal violence of the Italian invasion of Ethiopia. As their daring mission becomes more dangerous the three adventurers are about to discover that some battles may be more than they can handle . . .

The Calico Cat Charles Miner Thompson 2021-02-11 Solomon has hated the Calico Cat ever since he bought the house in Ellmington and he has tried his very best to drive her away, but with no luck. As he tries once more to get rid of the cat, he triggers a vicious series of events that ends with lies, the arrest of a boy, and a guilty conscience. Charles Miner Thompson (1864-1941) was an American author and journalist, who worked as an editor at the Youth's Companion, a children's magazine that ran from 1827 to 1929. Thompson is mostly remembered for his "The Calico Cat," but he also wrote other novels such as "The Nimble Dollar," "An Army Mule," and "Miss Wilkins: An Idealist in Masquerade."

There's nothing like a secret baby to bring a brooding bachelor home again! 3 BABIES FOR 3 BROTHERS

Shanghai Literary Imaginings Lena Scheen 2016-12-15 This book draws on a wide range of methods—including approaches from literary studies, cultural studies, and urban sociology—to analyse the transformation of Shanghai through rapid growth and widespread urban renewal. Lena Scheen explores the literary imaginings of the city, its past, present, and future, in order to understand the effects of that urban transformation on both the psychological state of Shanghai's citizens and their perception of the spaces they inhabit.

Situation Sabotage Graeme Johns 2006 Contamination'sabotage'terms feared by food industry executives around the world. They prefer to announce the problem as a potential'situation. One of the world's largest snack food manufacturers has called in Industrial Espionage Investigator Jake Barton to examine possible sabotage at its Australian plant. Barton finds this latest 'situation' coincides with glass contamination incidents his firm is already studying at two rival American food companies. However, this particular Australian facility holds an intense personal connection for Barton. Under immense pressure from the manufacturing company presidents to solve the case before word leaks to the media, clues lead Barton in a frantic dash across the Pacific to Europe where he teams up with formidable ex-marine, Hec Kirby. Together they pursue the trail through Germany, and across the Atlantic to Florida. Three murders result before they finally discover the mastermind behind the sabotage.

Dark Dreams 2.0 Charles Derry 2009-12-21 Greatly expanded and updated from the 1977 original, this new edition explores the evolution of the modern horror film, particularly as it reflects anxieties associated with the atomic bomb, the Cold War, 1960s violence, sexual liberation, the Reagan revolution, 9/11 and the Iraq War. It divides modern horror into three varieties (psychological, demonic and apocalyptic) and demonstrates how horror cinema represents the popular expression of everyday fears while revealing the forces that influence American ideological and political values. Directors given a close reading include Alfred Hitchcock, Brian De Palma, David Cronenberg, Guillermo Del Toro, Michael Haneke, Robert Aldrich, Mel Gibson and George A. Romero. Additional material discusses postmodern remakes, horror franchises and Asian millennial horror. This book also contains more than 950 frame grabs and a very extensive filmography.

After Hitchcock David Boyd 2010-01-01 Alfred Hitchcock is arguably the most famous director to have ever made a film. Almost single-handedly he turned the suspense thriller into one of the most popular film genres of all time, while his Psycho updated the horror film and inspired two generations of directors to imitate and adapt this most Hitchcockian of movies. Yet while much scholarly and popular attention has focused on the director's oeuvre, until now there has been no extensive study of how Alfred Hitchcock's films and methods have affected and transformed the history of the film medium. In this book, thirteen original essays by leading film scholars reveal the richness and variety of Alfred Hitchcock's legacy as they trace his shaping influence on particular films, filmmakers, genres, and even on film criticism. Some essays concentrate on films that imitate Hitchcock in diverse ways, including the movies of Brian de Palma and thrillers such as True Lies, The Silence of the Lambs, and Dead Again. Other essays look at genres that have been influenced by Hitchcock's work, including the 1970s paranoid thriller, the Italian giallo film, and the post-Psycho horror film. The remaining essays investigate developments within film culture and academic film study, including the enthusiasm of French New Wave filmmakers for Hitchcock's work, his influence on the filmic representation of violence in the post-studio Hollywood era, and the ways in which his films have become central texts for film theorists.

Ik zie jou Clare Mackintosh 2017-05-30 Na haar succesdebuut "Mea culpa" (I Let You Go) slaagt Clare Mackintosh er opnieuw in een geweldige thriller te schrijven. "Ik zie jou" (I See You) is een thriller over forenzen, routines en obsessie. Je treinreis, je rit naar je werk wordt nooit meer hetzelfde na het lezen van dit boek! Wanneer Zoë Walker, tijdens een treinrit naar haar werk, tot haar verbijstering een foto van zichzelf in de krant ziet in de rubriek met seksadvertenties, is ze vastbesloten uit te zoeken hoe die foto daar terecht is gekomen. Ze heeft geen andere aanwijzingen dan de korrelige foto, een website en een telefoonnummer. Haar familieleden wuiven het weg als iemand die misschien veel op haar lijkt. Maar dan verschijnt er een foto van een andere vrouw, een vrouw die net als Zoë elke dag die trein neemt. Wanneer deze vrouw vervolgens gewurgd wordt gevonden, beseft Zoë dat ze gevaar loopt. Maar van wie komt dat gevaar? Iemand die net als zij dagelijks die trein neemt? Iemand die precies weet wat haar routines zijn? Van "Mea culpa"(I Let You Go) werden wereldwijd meer dan een miljoen exemplaren verkocht en ook "Ik zie jou" (I See You) was na verschijnen direct een hit.

Dreams and Dead Ends Jack Shadoian 2003-01-16 Dreams and Dead Ends provides a compelling history of the twentieth-century American gangster film. Beginning with Little Caesar (1930) and ending with Things To Do In Denver When You're Dead (1995), Jack Shadoian adroitly analyzes twenty notable examples of the crime film genre. Moving chronologically through nearly seven decades, this volume offers illuminating readings of a select group of the classic films--including The Public Enemy, D.O.A., Bonnie and Clyde, and The Godfather--that best define and represent each period in the development of the American crime film. Richly illustrated with more than seventy film stills, Dreams and Dead Ends details the evolution of the genre through insightful and precise considerations of cinematography, characterization, and narrative style. This updated edition includes new readings of three additional movies--Once Upon a Time in America, Things To Do In Denver When You're Dead, and Criss Cross--and brings this clear and lively discussion of the history of the gangster film to the end of the twentieth century.

Workshops Proceedings of the 5th International Conference on Intelligent Environments M. Schneider 2009-10-02 Advances in the engineering of sensing and acting capabilities distributed in wide range of specialized devices is providing at last an opportunity for the fundamental advances that computer science achieved in the past few decades to make an impact in our daily lives. This technical confluence is matched by a unique historical context where users are better informed (more aware of the benefits that technology can provide) and production of more complex systems is becoming more affordable. Sensors/actuators deployed in an environment (in this context it can be any physical space like a house, office, classroom, car, street, etc.) facilitate a link between an automated decision-making system connected to that technologically enriched space. This computing empowered environment enables the provision of an intelligent environment, i.e., "a digital environment that proactively, but sensibly, supports people in their daily lives". This is an active area of research which is attracting an increasing number of professionals (in academia and industry) worldwide. The prestigious 5th International Conference on Intelligent Environments (IE'09) is focused on the development of advanced intelligent environments and stimulates the discussion on several specific topics which are crucial to the future of the area. As part of that five workshops were supported as part of IE'09. This volume is the combined proceedings of those five workshops: Workshop on Digital Object Memories (DOMe'09), Workshop on RFID Technology: concepts, practices & solutions (RFID'09), Workshop on Artificial Intelligence Techniques for Ambient Intelligence (AITAmI'09), Workshop on Ethical Design of Ambient Intelligence (EDAmI'09), Workshop on Smart Offices and Other Workplaces (SOOW'09).

Good Enough to Dream Roger Kahn 2000-02-01 Roger Kahn's first major league hit was a grand slam: The Boys of Summer, his runaway bestseller that immortalized the 1950s Brooklyn Dodgers. Now Kahn does the same for players whose moment in the sun has not yet arrived. Good Enough to Dream is the story of his year as owner of the Class A, very minor league Utica Blue Sox. Most of the Blue Sox will never make it to the majors, but they all share the dream that links the small child in the sandlot with the bonus baby who has just smacked one out of the stadium. It's a dream Kahn learned from his father and, in the course of a season, passes on to his daughter's hours of practice for a moment of poetry; a hard living but a touch of legend. Good Enough to Dream presents baseball unadorned, a game still sweet enough to lure grown men to leagues where first-class transportation is an old school bus and the infield is likely to be the consistency of thick soup. It is a funny and poignant story of one season and one special team that will make us hesitate before we ever call anything "bush league" again.
