How to Live a Low-Carbon Life Christopher Goodall 2012-05-04 Drastic reduction of carbon emissions is vital if we are to avoid a catastrophe that devastates large parts of the world. Governments and businesses have been slow to act - individuals need to take the lead now if we are to avoid climate chaos. Each Westener is responsible for an average 10 - 20 tonnes of carbon emissions each year (depending on where you live). In How to Live a Low-Carbon Life, Chris Goodall shows how easy it is to take responsibility, providing a comprehensive, one-stop reference guide to calculating your CO2 emissions and reducing them to a more sustainable 2 tonnes a year.

Internet Marketing Dave Chaffey 2000 Internet Marketing is a comprehensive guide to how organisations can use the internet to support their marketing activities. Building on traditional marketing theory and concepts together with emerging academic literature, the book details a structured approach to applying the internet for marketing. The book is intended to support readers who are, or will be involved with using the internet in different capacities from integrating its use with existing marketing and communications strategies through to those involved with the creation and maintenance of web sites. It assumes no knowledge of the application of the Internet to marketing and basic concepts and terms are explained before exploring more advanced topics. Internet Marketing: *explains the key similarities and differences between marketing using the internet and other media; *shows how innovative companies are moving beyond 'static' brochureware pages to provide dynamic, interactive content to build personalised relationships with customers; *goes beyond the use of the web site as a communications tool to explain the impact of the internet on distribution channels, market places and relationships with business partners; *explo
